IS THIS A BLUNDER OR

A SLAM AT THE I.O.D.E.?

The following item, purported to have been clipped from a local district mimeographed sheet, was handed in to our office yesterday with the query, "Is this a blunder, or a slam at the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire?" It reads:

"The Independent Order of Domestic Englishwomen wish to extend an invitation to all those interested in doing war work to meet at the Anglican Hall in Blaimore on the first and fourth Tuesdays of each month at 7.30 P.M."

THE PASS EIGHTEEN YEARS AGO

(The Blaimore Enterprise, 1921)

Nov. 17—M. Beltrame, miner, lost away to a good start on Monday morning last, and are busy combing the town, Mr. C. J. Tompkins, who was recently elected a vice-president, was put in charge of the drive, and his knowledge of canvassing and organizing ability has put the drive for funds on a very competent basis.

The town has been divided into nine districts and canvassers are as follows: District No. 1—T. J. Williams and C. Shaw; No. 2—F. Freeman and W. Picard; No. 3—J. Tompkins and J. Chala; No. 4—R. W. H. Pinkney and R. Peressini; No. 5—S. G. Bannan and M. Tompkins; No. 6—J. B. Harmer and A. Decoux; No. 7—M. Petrie and E. Houze; No. 8—J. Danco and M. Margat; No. 9—J. Leasko and S. Parce.

Captains were appointed for the districts, as follows: Nos. 1-2, N. E. Anderson; 3-4, E. Oakes; 5-6, L. Evans; 7-8, W. Jallip; 9, D. MacPherson.

On going to press, the captains have reported a very favorable canvass so far, and are very hopeful of reaching their objective, a Red Cross sticker in every home and place of business. If you have been overlooked, any one of the above canvassers or captains will be glad to receive your contribution.

Armistice Encampment of the I. O. O. F. was instituted at Bellevue by Murray Saunders, P.G.M., of Calgary, assisted by P.C.P.s Morency, Bartlett, Montabetti, W. Patterson, J. Patterson and James Crowder, of Blaimore.

Officers installed were: A. B. Carr, C. P. S. Berry, H.P.; H. Jepson, S.W.; F. Padgett, J. W.; Eugene Excollin, financial scribe and treasurer. Appointive officers were: Rev. H. Peters, T. Bradley, E. Beale, Bert Dryden, W. Elder, Walter Warn, T. Knowles, J. Christie, D. Curry, A. Hallworth.

Jim Couzens was re-elected mayor of Detroit this week.

Ringland Bros., of Macleod, were engaged to make hockey ice at Coleman and Blaimore.

Nov. 24—Grand Master W. B. Burmes of the Grand Lodge of Alberta, I.O.O.F., visited lodges at Bellevue, Coleman and Blaimore to his usual capacity this week.

The Blaimore Ladies' Curling Club was organized this week with Mrs. F. M. Pinkney, president; Mrs. Granger, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Bird, Mrs. Passmore and Mrs. Wilson, executive.

The marriage of Miss Angelina Bodis to Mr. Charles Minonite was performed this week.

Angelo, a servant of the tribe of Piccarliello, was ordered to pay $150 and costs for an offence against the alcoholists act.

Dec. 1—Mr. and Mrs. A. S. May are rejoicing over the advent of a son, Allan Robert May.

Dr. T. R. Ross has been awarded the degree of F.R.C.S. by the Royal College of Surgeons of Philadelphia.

Candidates to contest the Rocky Mountain constituency are J. E. Gillis, Liberal; James Fairhurst, Labor; and H. M. Shaw, Conservative.

ALBERTA DEBT SHOWS DROP

Edmonton, Nov. 16.—Not funded and unfunded debt of Alberta at September 30th was $149,904,456, a decrease of $5,090,295 compared with March 31st, according to an interim report on provincial government financial operations for the six-month period released today.

Final payment received for the Northern Alberta Railway company totalling more than $5,000,000 was largely responsible for the decrease.

The quickest way in which the Social Credit government could be defeated and a same government elected would be for Premier Aberhart to bring on an election with a view to securing another five years of office and pickings at the pork barrel for all his followers. There would in all probability be a repetition of the recent Quebec election. Canadian unity comes before self aggrandizement of politicians, especially while the country is at war, as was so splendidly proven by the people of Quebec.

RED CROSS SUPPLIES

Mrs. J. B. Harmer, vice-president of the local Red Cross Society, who is in charge of the war work, has supplies on hand and will be pleased to distribute them to ladies of the town who are willing to work for the soldiers in knitting socks, sweaters, mitts or making up bandages, etc. If they will kindly call at Mrs. Harmer's home, or phone 277, they can secure supplies. For those who wish to attend the war work, the ladies of the Red Cross meet every Friday afternoon at 2.30 in the United church auditorium. Sewing machines are available and instructors will be on hand.

GIFTS FROM SOLDIERS

WILL BE DUTY FREE

In a memorandum sent to customs and excise collectors on November 10th from Ottawa by the National Revenue department, announcement is made that during the war personal gifts from members of the Canadian overseas forces, or Canadians serving with the British or allied forces overseas, to relatives or friends in Canada, may enter the country duty free. For the same period, donations of clothing and bona fide donations of other supplies for the Red Cross Society, and donations of goods for the personal use of prisoners of war interned in Canada will also be duty free.

FOUND AT CURRENT

RATE FOR CUSTOMS

An important ruling, concerning the value of the British pound for customs duty purposes in Canada, is noted. The proposal is that for duty purposes in Canada, the pound shall be valued at its current rate in the market rather than at nominal value of $4.85.

The foreign exchange control board, some time ago, pegged the dollar price in Canadian currency at $4.85. Duty has been collected, however, at the rate of $4.85.

The decision now, it is understood, is that the lower valuation will apply for customs purposes. The general effect of this will be equivalent to a lowering of the customs taxes and thus a lessening of the protection it affords.

A carload of Ford V-8s were unloaded here on Monday to the order of Red Trail Motors.

REMEMBRANCE DAY IS FITTINGLY OBSERVED

With quite a number of young recruits in khaki in attendance, the Remembrance Day services in Blaimore attracted more than ordinary interest. Members of the G.W.V.A., new recruits, the I.O.D.E. and citizens lined up near the corner of Sixth Avenue and Victoria Street, and paraded to the Orpheum theatre, where service was conducted under the chairmanship of Walter J. Fisher, a veteran of the Great War. Devotional exercises were in charge of Rev. E. B. Arrol, B.A., while Magistrate Gresham, Mr. J. H. Farmer and others occupied positions on the platform. The main address was ably delivered by Mr. John Shevells, of Bellevue. "Last Post" was sounded by "Blm," son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen. Immediately following the service, the procession headed for the Blaimore Cenotaph, where wreaths were placed by the Blaimore Branch of the Canadian Legion, the I.O.D.E., and the R.C.M.P. The West Canadian Collieries' band was in attendance and accompanied the singing of "O Canada" and "God Save The King," as well as rendering suitable enlivening selections in the course of the parade.

Similar ceremony took place at the Frank Cenotaph, where devotional exercises were in charge of Rev. R. Upton, of Bellevue, with Reeve Donkin conducting the programme. Capt. Watson and Lieut. Weddell, of the Coleman Salvation Army, assisted in this service, as did also the West Canadian Legion band. Mrs. Dunlop, who lost several sons in the Great War, and who has for a number of years been prevailed upon to officially lay a wreath at the foot of the Cenotaph, was unable to be present on account of illness. "Last Post" was sounded by Mr. William Goodwin, of Bellevue.

At Bellevue service in the United Church was very largely attended, with members of the B.E.S.L. turning out in a body, accompanied by their ladies' auxiliary. The church choir was in attendance and rendered special anthems, while at the conclusion of the pastor's address a beautiful solo, "In Flanders Fields," was rendered by Mrs. Upton.

All services were very largely attended.

On Monday evening the event was observed by members of the Blaimore Branch of the Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L., in their hall, where a splendid smoker programme was carried out.

HILLCREST HAPPENINGS

Mr. and Mrs. Wytollis journeyed to Calgary Friday to spend the week end.

R. Gardiner has tendered his resignation as a trustee on the local school board.

On Saturday last, someone entered the local school building and stole sixteen light globes. The R.G.M.P. are investigating.

The government grades was on the road to Hillcrest on Tuesday, the second time in two months.

The local physical training class have now their full equipment, much to the joy of its members.

The local high school basketball team are now holding practice steady, under the expert tutelage of Mr. W. Webster. The high school had a good training last year, but much to the players' chagrin had no competition in The Pass.

COWLEY HAPPENINGS

Neil Washburn, of Vulcan, spent the week end visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Martin and family here.

Mrs. Richard Upton, of Bellevue, gave a very successful concert here on Thursday evening last. Mrs. Upton brought most of the talent with her from her home town, and each number on a lengthy programme was thoroughly enjoyed.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Dunn, of the Cowley airport, left by bus on Thursday morning for a two-week holiday trip to Victoria and other British Columbia points.

A miscellaneous shower was held at the Tames school house on Tuesday evening for Mr. and Mrs. Edward Perreault, when many friends responded with lovely and useful gifts for the newly-wedded pair. After an sparkling luncheon, a few hours of dancing was enjoyed. Music was supplied by local talent.

W. Hartree, who has been employed with the Cowley airport for some considerable time, moved his family to Victoria, B.C., this week. Mr. Hartree has accepted the position as wireless naval operator there.

A carload of mixed cattle was shipped from the Cowley stock yards on Wednesday.

SCHOOL BOOK BEING REVISED

Authors and publishers are engaged in re-reading the school book, the World of Today, used as an auxiliary study book in grade nine, with a view to removing any offensive material in the light of existing conditions.

The action followed a claim by E. H. Starr, Calgary trustee, that the book contained pernicious Nazi propaganda.

Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax announced in the house of lords the government has decided to offer $400,000 to aid the 130,000 Polish refugees in Hungary and Roumania.

Submarines of belligerent nations were prohibited from entering Panamanian waters, ports, havens or anchorages except in case of emergency, by a government decree.

The ministry of information announced the Royal Air Force film, "The Lion Has Wings," showing the attack on the Kiel canal by British flyers, is being sent to the Dominions.

Adolphe Max, burgomaster of Brussels imprisoned by Germany during the first Great War and who had held office continuously ever since, is dead, at the age of 70.

The Egyptian government announced an agreement has been reached for sale to Great Britain of 75,000 tons of Egyptian cotton, about one-fifth of the total Egyptian crop.

Dr. F. J. Conboy, acting mayor of Toronto, said he believed at least 25 new airports will be constructed shortly in Ontario in connection with the proposed empire air training scheme in Canada.

The first preliminary estimate of a near record Russian grain harvest of 114,600,000 tons indicated to economic observers the Soviet might export grain to Germany without drawing heavily upon her reserves.

Everything Is Used

Red Cross Asks Workers To Save All Scraps And Pieces

Keep the scraps, is the request of the sewing women at Red Cross headquarters, Toronto. Odd bits of striped flannel left over from the cutting-out of soldier pyjamas, have been placed together to make warm pants for evacuated children of Great Britain.

Industrious seamstresses have also taken cuttings from pneumonia jackets of soft blue material and turned them into attractive little helmets for the tots to wear in cold weather.

Lightning does more good than harm. Each year it produces tons of fixed nitrogen which greatly aids vegetation when added to the soil.

Escaped From Poland

Montreal School Teacher Relates Experiences During Invasion

Still pale and weak from the ordeal, Zofia Charuk, Montreal school teacher of Polish descent, was back home after escaping from Poland where she was holidaying at the time of the German invasion.

Miss Charuk declared she witnessed the fall of Poland from the day the first bomb was dropped on the city of Lwow until she reached Latvia more than three weeks later.

During her flight, Zofia said, she suffered with hundreds of other refugees from illness and privation. She told of having exchanged four dresses for a small jar of jam.

The young school teacher said she had gone to Poland in July and had planned to start for home September 4, but three days before she was due to leave, while she was at Lwow, the German bombers arrived there.

Se told of a flight from Lwow to Warsaw where she served five days in a military canteen before authorities advised her to leave, and then of her departure aboard a train whose destination was not known.

The train was subjected to bombings the first day of its journey and afterwards only moved at night. There was no food, and the refugees searched fields where sometimes they found potatoes, Zofia said.

German planes overhead were piloted by youths, she asserted. A girl pilot had bombed Lwow and had been shot down, and a second plane shot down by the Poles carried a girl and a youth, she said.

"They are all youngsters, about 18 or 19, these Nazi pilots," Zofia insisted. "Some of them told me they were given injections before they started out, to give them courage."

ERRORS IN SPEECH A SOCIAL HANDICAP

"I never want to go inside that club again! How catty those women were, pretending they didn't know what I meant when I called 'Tom' formal clothes his soup-and-dish."

The woman whose speech bristles with crude slang is sure to feel uncomfortable with people whose talk is charming and correct.

They can't conceal their amazement at such remarks as "That KID hit the old man on the BEAN with his slugshot." CHILD and HEAD are the words more cultured speakers would use, as she could easily find out.

Error in English provoked amused comments, too. Wrong to say "Mary wanted to borrow a hat OFF me, but I wasn't TO home." Correct is "Mary wanted to borrow a hat FROM me, but I wasn't AT home."

And do you risk being by calling everything you like "fine," everything you don't like "terrible"? Are you vocabulary-poor?

From our 32-page booklet learn how to build a large, vivid vocabulary, give zest to your talk. Lists common errors, correct forms, along phrases to avoid. Gives right meanings of word often misused, pronunciation tips.

Argument Is Settled

Everyone In The Body Politic Is Held Responsible

Last week a woman refused to even look at the questionnaire offered by those in charge of the Voluntary Registration of Canadian Women. Why should she be bothered? she asked. "It's not my war; I didn't start it."

She's wrong. She did. In a democracy each has an equal voice, but the desire of the majority rules. Whether she voted for the Government or not, whether she criticized the franchise or not, she is a part of the body politic whose voice is Parliament, whose hands are Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King and his cabinet. That parliament instructed that administration to declare Canada in a state of war with Germany. It is her war; she is equally responsible for Canada's participation.

Purchase Lead And Zinc

Expected That Western Mines Will Supply Entire Output To Britain

Two western producers will supply practically their entire output of lead and zinc to Great Britain for the duration of the war it was learned.

There was no official Canadian government comment on the London announcement of the British Supply Ministry that arrangements had been made for purchase of Canada's entire output of lead and zinc.

The lead, it was learned, will come from the Trail, B.C., plant of the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company while the zinc will be supplied by the same company and also by the Hudson Bay Mining and Smelting Company, Ltd., mines at Flin Flon, Man.

Closer Tie Than Friendship Binds The Men Together

Lord Tweedmouth, speaking at the Black Watch Royal Highland Regiment dinner, Montreal, said:

"A regiment is a wonderful thing. It is a little clan which is bound together by ties which are closer than friendship, and bound not only to each other but to those who have gone before. A regimental tradition is a living thing almost like a personal memory."

Back On The Job

War Correspondent Returns To The Front After 25 Years

Philip Gibbs, once more a war correspondent with a British army in France after 25 years, calls himself a Rip Van Winkle; but that would be true only in the sense that he finds himself a veteran among young men. He is not Rip Van Winkle who came back to a world he could hardly recognize. Philip Gibbs finds only too many familiar things.

The old place names, rich with tragic and proud memories, are there; over this hill the cavalry charged 25 years ago. In this field the German dead lay thick. Everywhere the British Expeditionary Force of 1939 is billeted in the familiar French barns with the traditional manure heaps in the farmyard, and the same sour stench that we had in our nostrils in the old days.—New York Times.

Winter Life Of Bees

Can Be Prolonged If Colonies Properly Prepared In Fall

The average life of a bee during the summer months in Canada is approximately six weeks, but in winter their life must be prolonged to at least eight months. To do this requires a careful study of colony strength, food supply and protection in relation to wintering. At one time it was thought that bees could not survive the winter in many parts of Canada unless housed in specially constructed cellars, but aparies of the Dominion Experimental Farms have shown that bees can be safely wintered outside in packing cases anywhere in Canada, provided the colonies are properly prepared during the previous fall.

2 1/2 teaspoons Calumet Baking Powder
2 tablespoons sugar
2 tablespoons butter or other shortening
1 cup milk
1 cup chopped pared apple
1 1/2 teaspoons grated orange rind
1/2 cup finely chopped raisins
Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, sugar, and salt, and mix all at once and stir carefully until all flour is dampened. Add remaining ingredients and stir vigorously until mixture forms a soft dough that clings to sides of bowl. Drop from a teaspoon on an ungreased baking sheet. Bake in a hot oven (450 degrees F.) 12 minutes, or until done. Makes 15 biscuits.

WARNINGS AND PROMISES

Golden text: As ye would that men should do to you, do ye also to them likewise. Luke 6:41.

Lesson: Matthew 7.

Devotional reading: Matthew 7: 24-27.

Explanations and Comments

A Warning Against Conscientiousness, Matthew 7:1-5. Judge not: this is one of Jesus' general statements not meant to be taken without qualifications. He did not mean that we are not to form opinions in regard to others, that we are never to pass judgment upon others. We cannot avoid doing this, and the work of the world could not be carried on without it.

A Warning Against Not Judging, Matthew 7:6. Moral criticism there must be. "Judge not," Jesus has just said, and now he counsels us to know people, understand them, judge them correctly, deal with them according to their character. Otherwise we shall be led into mistakes such as giving what is holy to dogs, casting pearls before swine, with the result that depraved people scorn us even as vicious animals trample upon pearls and then turn upon the giver.

Frontiers in Regard to Prayer, Matthew 7:7-11. The three counsels of verses 7 repeat the same thought: the sake of imprudence. Ask, seek, knock—these words teach the value of earnestness, importunity in prayer.

Dr. J. R. Miller, after declaring that much which is called praying is not worthy the name, is not praying at all, has neither importunity nor intensity in the asking, suddenly questions: "What did you pray for this morning? Do you remember?"

Do you? Jesus says we are to ask God for his gifts. Why? Because our asking is a sign that we desire what we ask, and that we open the door for God's gift.

The Golden Rule, Matthew 7:12. "Therefore in view of the fact that God is your Father and treats you as his sons, giving you good gifts according to what you ask him; therefore do ye yourselves have your Father's Spirit, going to others as he does to you, that you may give them the good gifts you ask of him. Your good gifts you ask of him; therefore treat your fellows as your brothers; for common fatherhood makes common brotherhood" (George D. Boardman).

Excuse Works Both Ways

Clergyman Felt He Was In Same Boat With Bishop

Prompted by the feeling that it was his duty, the bishop remonstrated with one of his clergy for not attending.

"Well, my lord," replied the offender, "I really do not see any more harm in hunting than going to a ball."

"That, my lord, is exactly how I stand—I was never in the same field as the hounds."

Naturalization Applications

Have Increased At Rapid Rate Since Start Of The War

Naturalization certificates are to be granted to German nationals only after special scrutiny of each case by the secretary of state, it was announced.

Since the war naturalization applications have increased from a normal monthly figure of 700 to 800 to more than 2,000 in September and October.

Most applicants are enemy aliens residing in Canada who are in effect refugees and not in sympathy with the government of the German Reich. These persons have expressed a desire to assist the Canadian cause in the war.

TOPICS OF VITAL INTEREST

VACCINATION AGAINST TUBERCULOSIS

B.C.G. vaccine is a preventive measure against tuberculosis in infants developed in France chiefly through the influence of Albert Leon Charles Calmette, a distinguished bacteriologist and Alphonse Guérin, a French surgeon. It is called B.C.G. the "B" indicating that the contained bacillus grows on bile while the other two letters serve to perpetuate the names of the inventors. The vaccine consists of living cultures of bovine tubercle bacilli that have been grown over a period of many years on glycerinated egg bile so that their virulence has been greatly reduced. This vaccine is given by mouth.

More than 10 years ago the Swedish National Association undertook a campaign of vaccination of the newborn against tuberculosis with this vaccine. By the end of 1937, 13,103 babies had been given B.C.G. at birth, whereas the parents of 34,845 babies had declined treatment. The work was in the hands of Professor Carl Naesslund of Stockholm.

Two matters of significance were noted, first that there was an obvious fall in the general mortality among the vaccinated and that the decline in the tuberculosis death rate among these was remarkable. The tuberculosis mortality for the B.C.G. children was 1.5 per 1,000 and that of the non-vaccinated was 6.3 per 1,000, the actual number of tuberculosis deaths being 15 and 199 respectively.

In all of the children observed, during a ten-year period, there were 754 deaths or 6.10 per cent. from all causes among the vaccinated and 3,501 or 11.17 per cent. among the non-vaccinated.

The results of this experiment form a very strong argument for the use of B.C.G. in the prevention of tuberculosis. The remedy is said to be entirely safe for use. It is largely employed in France. The Swedish experiment is the first serious one to be tried in any other country.

CREATIVE RADIO IN CANADA

While acknowledging its great debt to the radio traditions of Great Britain and the United States, the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation believes that Canadian radio should be a distinctive development, reflecting the particular tradition and background of this country.

Radio in Canada has reached a point where it is becoming creative in a truly Canadian sense. CBC producers are finding interesting programme themes in different aspects of Canadian life—"Canadian Snapshots," "The Story of Wheat," "The Story of Fur," are examples of features produced and presented by Canadians, embodying new ideas and techniques.

Like all arts that play a vital part in the life of a people, radio is experimental, tentative, exploratory—avoiding set forms and welcoming ideas that are fresh and stimulating. It is inevitable that a portion of new ideas should fail to fulfill all that is hoped of them; radio, in creating new forms, must also be critical and selective. It is a healthy and encouraging sign that these new Canadian ventures in broadcasting are creating wide controversial discussion.

The diversity of cultures contributing to our Canadian heritage provides a national asset of inestimable value. These cultures are the warp and weft from which a pattern that is distinctly Canadian is slowly taking form. The Canadian Broadcasting Corporation is aware, not only of the challenge offered to its producing staff, but of its larger responsibility as an active and vital force in weaving these diverse traditions into something that is new and significant.

WHO WOULDN'T?

The editor of The Camrose Canadian wants to know why people swear. We are surprised that a newspaper editor should ask such a question.

Anyone that has to do business with such cranky stuff as printing machinery, ink and paper, just can't keep from swearing.

The big newspaper press will run as smooth as silk for weeks. Then comes a time when the paper is late and everything is in an uproar. And that cranky blankety blank press will develop a streak of cussedness that would try the temper of the very archangels.

The weather needs to change but a trifle and printing ink will display a hellishness of disposition one would never suspect in such seemingly innocuous material.

And what a linotype wouldn't cause you in the way of trouble when it gets into a recalcitrant frame of mind isn't worth while bothering about. Job's troubles were airy bubbles compared to those of an operator whose linotype machine is on the rampage. Then it usually happens that when one is in the throes of an epidemic of mechanical trouble along comes an irate subscriber to hawl you out because you have mis-spelled his name.

Holy Mackerel! Who wouldn't swear?—Brooks Bulletin.

EDITORIAL FROM
EXPOSITOR NEWSPAPER

For over four years Alberta has had a government called Social Credit. Yet it is not the kind outlined in the blue book, nor the form in the yellow pamphlet, and not that of Major Douglas. Therefore, what is it?

He, Mr. Aberhart, is simply building up a corporate state, nazism socialism. The same type whose leader in Germany lives in a palace at the top of a mountain. In Alberta we have no palaces. But the head of Alberta's type of Nazism lives at the palatial Macdonald hotel, being conveyed wherever he wants to go in a high-priced Buick car, and Mr. Aberhart proceeds further in the Nazi love of the spectacular by recently decking his chauffeur in an elaborate uniform. But on Sundays Alberta's premier assumes the role of preacher and rants over the air uttering his vituperations at opponents who still believe in British methods.

From a perusal of the legislation of the Aberhart administration, the leader has consciously or unconsciously initiated Herr Hitler as the agricultural act, relief act, large school units and proposed production tax act shows.

Alberta's leader sought other territory outside his own bounds, but his B.C. and Saskatchewan defeats were his battles of the Marne.

Hitler soon after attaining power took control of the police; Aberhart tried the same when he endeavored to dismiss the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. Hitler muzzled the Press; Aberhart tried the same in Alberta. Hitler has his own newspaper; Aberhart has the Today and Tomorrow. Hitler's subjects are forbidden to listen to foreign radio; Social Creditors are boldly told not to listen to opposition speakers. Hitler's lieutenants must not fight for themselves, but they blindly; Aberhart destroyed democracy by making his members sign the blue pledge. "Down with my enemies," shouts Hitler; Social Creditors once in Edmonton published a list of alleged enemies and added the words "exterminate them." Hitler grabbed Czechoslovakia one day; Aberhart sought to grab Brooks irrigation, and its account the next day. Hitler once said: "May God show our enemies that our arms are strong; Social Creditors at a picnic shouted: "Give us a gun!" Mr. Aberhart once sneered at Britain's contractual relations, which speech brought a storm of protest from returned soldiers and others. Over the radio in May, 1938, Premier Aberhart referred to Herr Hitler as a great man who had driven the money changers out. Aberhart's government dismissed so many crippled and returned soldiers that a protest meeting was called in Edmonton.

The Liberty magazine recently carried a story of the Nazi menace in eastern Canada and referred to Mr. Aberhart and Mr. Kuhl, M.P. for Edmonton, as interested parties. No denial of this statement has been made as yet. A Social Credit meeting once referred to our Privy Council as a bunch of old fossils. Aberhart's closing campaign meeting in Saskatchewan last year used special police, "shock troops." Mr. Aberhart, when East once, called on Father Coughlin, the pro-fascist speaker of Detroit. Gunther's book, "Inside Europe," says Hitler's strength is oratory, so also Premier Aberhart. It was at Ardena, Alberta, that the New Democracy leader and Premier Aberhart fired their first shot; this place is a hotbed of Nazism. All dictators have to make some one the goat. Hitler named the Jew and Communist; Aberhart named the banks and fifty big shots. But it was the Aberhart government which brought Major, the financial wizard, to Alberta. Certain Social Creditors are saying this is a war of finance. One Social Credit M.P. said at two meetings that "Chamberlain's" owns munition factories, and that his interest is financial, when intelligent persons know that England did not want war and that the dictators are financial tools. Hitler shortly after becoming ruler of Germany instituted a purge; Aberhart did the same when

MOTHER SHIPTON'S
PROPHECY OF 1448

Mother Shipton's prophecy of the twentieth century world, which was written in 1448, was widely quoted in the last war. Here it is, written 500 years ago:

A house of glass shall come to pass In England, but alas!

War will follow with the work In the land of the Pagan and Turk.

And State and State in fierce strife Will seek each other's life;

But when the North shall divide the South

An Eagle shall build in the Lion's mouth;

Carriages without horses shall go, And accidents fill the world with woe;

Primrose Hill in London shall be, And in its centre a Bishop's See;

Around the world thoughts shall fly In the twinkling of an eye;

Water shall yet wonders do, Now strange, shall yet be true;

And gold found at the root of a tree; Through hills man shall ride

And no horse or ass be by his side; Under the water men shall walk,

Shall ride, shall sleep, shall talk; In the air men shall be seen,

In white, in black, in green; Iron in the water shall float

As easy as a wooden boat; Gold shall be found, and found

In a land that's not yet known; Fire and water shall more wonders do,

England shall at last admit a Jew; The Jew that was held in scorn

Shall of a Christian be born; Three times three will lovely France

Be led to dance a bloody dance; Before her people shall be free

Three tyrant rulers shall she see; Three times the people rule alone;

Three times the people's hope is gone; Three rulers in succession see,

Each springing from a different dynasty;

England and France shall be as one, Then shall the worse fight be done.

Trials of a Hostess

The new maid, preparing to serve at her first dinner party, was instructed by her garden-loving mistress to place a little flower in each finger bowl for the guests. That point in the course of the meal arrived, and to the hostess' perplexity she saw that no blossoms were floating about as planned, but that the water had a decidedly murky nature. Asking the maid afterward as to the cause of the murkiness, she was informed: "Why, ma'am, Ah jes' put in a little flour like you tole me."

First Salesman: "I just got a bunch of orders over the phone."

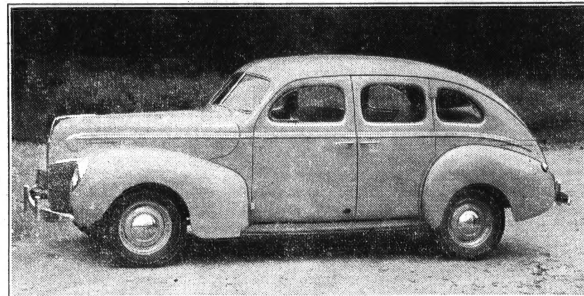

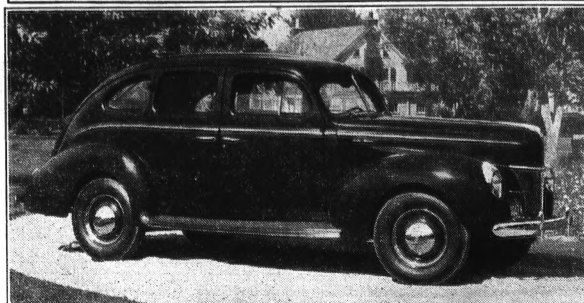

Second Salesman: "You must have been talking to your wife!"

he similarly dismissed part of his cabinet who wouldn't do his un-British bidding. Prussian officers in the last war did not lead their men into battle. No, they drove from the side lines; in 1935 Wm. Aberhart did not lead in the battle of the ballots. No, he did not even have a seat, but watched from the side; then when victory came he stepped into the chariot by way of Okotoks-High River. Subsequently when his own constituents thought fit to apply his government's own recall act he and his crowd did the unsportsmanship thing of vetoing their own recall act, thus proving the great writers' contention that dictators are cowards. Added to that, our religio-political government still retains the $200,000 deposit.

The real head of Alberta is the Lieutenant-Governor, the King's representative. Aberhart closed his house, or official residence, before the King's visit, thus forcing our Sovereign to take to the "Macdonald," Aberhart's quasi-residence.

Some day our 13-year-olds will grow up and even they will find how they have been fooled, exploited and seriously hurt, and they then will thank God we did have a senior government with a protective power against a would-be dictator who eventually will move to another part where a miniature palace awaits his coming.—J. J. Maloney, Calgary, Alberta, P.O.

This story is told of a Mountie Police officer who, while escorting a patient to the Ponoka asylum, was subjected to numerous questions from the "insane" person, such as: How many square miles are included in Montreal's area? How many school districts are there in Alberta? What would happen if Dictator Aberhart reaped control of our oil resources? Who was premier of Alberta in the four years prior to 1917? etc. Seeing that the officer was unable to answer most of his tests, remarked: "Say, big boy, it's I should be escorting you to Ponoka!"

DEAN WIGLE, OF YALE,
DEFINES A LIBERAL

Dean Luther A. Wigle, speaking at the opening of the one hundred and eighty-eighth year of Yale Divinity Hall, took as his subject, "The Courage to be Liberal," and warned the students against racialism and "the diabolical anti-Semites which plague our times." He continued his definition of a Liberal, suggesting that it is not easy to be one. It demands clear perception, straight thinking, objectivity of mind, and steadfast courage. That was never more true than in this war-torn world. The spirit of the Liberal is assailed, not only by the armies arrayed against it, but by inward corrosion from the means it is forced to adopt in self-defence. ... We may pray that in these momentous days we may be led to realize in thought and action the full meaning of ourselves and for all mankind of that devotion to liberty and justice, the love of neighbor and the faith in God which are our heritage both as American citizens and Christians."

SOME FOLKS CAN GET AWAY WITH ANYTHING

Some folks get away with anything. There's one lady in our neighborhood who does.

Morals don't mean a thing to her. She's unmarried and lives openly with the man she's crazy about, and does not care what people say or think. She has no regard for truth or law.

The duties of the so-called good citizen are just so much bunk so far as she is concerned. She doesn't vote either in the provincial or general election. She never thinks of paying a bill.

We have seen her taking a car ride without giving the driver so much as a pleasant look. The driver only stared at her and muttered something silly. She won't work a lick; she won't go to church; she can't play cards, or dance, or fool around with musical instruments or the radio. So far as is known, she has no intellectual or cultural interests at all.

She neglects her appearance terribly. She's so indolent that she'd let her house burn down before she'd turn in an alarm. The telephone can ring itself to pieces and she wouldn't bother to answer it.

Even on such controversial subjects as the liquor question, nobody knows exactly where she stands, because one minute she's wet and the next minute she's wet.

But we'll say this for her: in spite of all her faults, she comes of a darn good family.

She's our baby!—Editor Kew of the Stately Advertiser.

NEWS FROM EDMONTON

(T. B. Windrows)

Edmonton, Nov. 13. — The tourist business which is offered to Alberta next year, partly from other provinces but chiefly from the United States, promises over this week to be one of the biggest industries and money-makers in the province if the opportunity is seized.

During the past summer, $5,000,000 was left in Alberta by 570,000 visitors. Those figures showed an increase of $1,200,000 and 75,000 persons over the 1938 season. And during 1940, with war keeping American travellers away from Europe, the number of visitors to this province and the amount of business which they create here should be doubled at least, according to estimates made in Edmonton.

That business will be highly important and beneficial to every individual in the province, directly or indirectly, since it will increase the amount of money and the circulation in the province. But it will also be important to the national interest, because it will mean increased foreign exchange available in Canada to assist in financing the vast purchases of war materials outside the Dominion.

If that tourist business is to be brought to Alberta, it must be attracted and encouraged by means of a planned business-like campaign, and the provincial government, if it does not take the lead, must at least co-operate with business men and others in the province to invite visitors, it was commented.

WISHFUL FIGURING

Wall Street is circulating a set of figures the author of which we cannot identify. If the conclusions are accidental they are at least interesting. Examine and check:

"Thomas Masaryk was born in 1850. Became President of Czechoslovakia in 1918. He was in office 17 years. He gave up that office at the age of 85. Total up all the figures—1850, 1918, 17, 85—and you have 3870. Divided by 2 they equal 1935. This is the year he gave up the presidency."

"Wilhelm II was born in 1859. He became Kaiser in 1888. He ruled 30 years. He finished his rule when he was 59. Total the figures and you have 3896. Now divide by 2 and you have 1948, the year he ended his rule."

"President Benes was born in 1884. He became president of Czechoslovakia in 1935. He was in office 3 years and left his country when he was 54. Total the figures and you have 3876. Now divide by 2 and you have 1938, the year he lost the presidency."

"Adolf Hitler was born in 1889. He came into power in 1933. He has been in office as Fuehrer for 6 years. His age at present is 50. Total the figures, and you have 3878. Now divide by 2 and you have 1939, which is the year he will finish his rule."

First Visitor: "My dear, these cakes are as hard as stone."

Second Visitor: "I know. Didn't you hear her say, 'Take your pick,' when she passed them around."

Small Daughter: "There was a strange man who called to see you today."

Father: "Did he have a bill?"

Daughter: "No, papa; he just had a plan, ordinary nose."

Agent: "I forgot to mention that in this country house you are buying there are two very old stained-glass windows."

Buyer: "That won't matter. If they're stained too bad to be cleaned, I can put in some new ones."

Parent: "Who is the laziest boy in your class?"

Johnny: "I don't know."

Parent: "I should think you would know. When all the others are industrious—writing or studying their lessons—who sits idly in his seat and watches the rest, instead of working himself?"

Johnny: "The teacher."

THREE-YEAR FOOD PLAN

War agricultural committees with executive powers have been established by the government in all countries to direct Britain's three-year food production plan.

The agricultural front is organized with military precision. Every square yard of land is now regarded as a "war area," and the land army has already joined the farmers in going into action.

The immediate task is to get 1,500,000 extra acres under the plough by next year. Each war committee, which corresponds to an army's divisional headquarters, has decided the minimum acreage of grassland that must be ploughed in its area. Localized district committees—the equivalent of battalion headquarters—decide which extra acres each individual farmer must plough.

Corresponding to an ordnance corps are groups of experts, with special knowledge of local conditions in their respective territories, who form the link between agriculture and industry. Their job is to co-ordinate the use of Britain's 70,000 tractors and immense stocks of other machinery, so that the mechanized forces are always on the move.

Already a record acreage has been ploughed with the voluntary co-operation of the farmers, and it is unlikely that the compulsory powers of the war committees will have to be exercised. Everyone is responding to the minister of agriculture's broadcast appeal to "work like blazes."

Help! How we should like to go over to the coronation and take in our maiden aunts — we mean, visit them. Ah, these aunts with nephews out in the far West! Dear, unsocialized old creatures. There was one in a London drawing room two of these aristocratic old dames hobnobbing over an afternoon cup of tea.

"And there's our dear Vernon, he is doing so well, you know."

"What is he doing?"

"Well, when he first went out to Canada he had some excellent letters of introduction. One was to Sir Charles Tupper. You remember dear Sir Charles? He gave our Vernon an excellent appointment chivvelling superfluous gas left over after a sitting of the House. After that he obtained a position in a bank at Winnipeg, but that proved too great a strain on his brain—you remember, dear, what a delicate, sensitive boy he always was—and he went further out west. He seems from his last letter, however, to have obtained a position commensurate with his great talents, though to tell you the truth I cannot understand the nature of it."

"What is it, dear?"

"Travelling with a horse."

"Oh-h-h-h-h, Sandy! That popcorn smells grand!"

"Aye, it does, lass. We'll go back and drive in a wee bit closer."

"One hears nothing today of that famous Ananias Club."

"No, war communiques are being written now, and it is no time for the novice."

Boarder: "Hey, I found a nickel in my hash!"

Landlady: "Yes, I put it there. You've been complaining about the lack of change in your meals."

"No, boss, dat 'U.S.' don't stand for Uncle Sam; it means 'unsafe.'"

Minister (to non-church goer): "Why don't you go to church?"

"Well, I'll tell you. The first time I went to church, they threw water in my face, and the second time they tied me to a woman I've had to keep ever since."

Minister, thoughtfully: "Yes, and the next time you go they'll throw dirt on you!"

Why Canada Fights

Canada has allied herself with Great Britain and France in the fight to crush Hitlerism and all that Hitlerism stands for, in the hope that as an outcome of the conflict peace and security for all nations may be guaranteed for a long time to come.

The foregoing in a general way sums up the average Canadian's reply to the question: "Why are we in this war?"

The reply may run up the reasons in a very general way, but it is essential that Canadians understand specifically and remind themselves constantly of the reason for the necessity of crushing Hitlerism and this can best be done by a careful and analytical review of the events of the past six years in Europe and Hitler's record of broken promises.

This has been very ably set forth by the London Times and reprinted in pamphlet form under the title: "The Grammar of Aggression," in calendar form. A summary of excerpts of speeches made by Herr Hitler as Chancellor of the German Reich, combined with his various acts of aggression during the period under review constitute an indictment so clear that one can readily understand why war was inevitable.

Submitted in brief form the following extracts from Hitler's speeches and his contrasting actions tell a story which cannot be controverted:

Berlin, Feb. 10, 1933.—The first and best point of the Government's programme is that we won't lie and we won't swindle.

Berlin, May 17, 1933.—The German people have no thought of invading any country.

Oct. 14, 1933.—Germany left the League of Nations.

Berlin, Oct. 24, 1933.—There are Germans and Poles in Europe, and they ought to live together in agreement. The Poles cannot think of Europe without the Germans and the Germans cannot think of Europe without the Poles.

Berlin, Nov. 10, 1933.—When has the German people ever broken its word?

The Rights of Others

Berlin, Jan. 13, 1934.—The assertion that the German Reich plans to coerce the Austrian State is absurd and cannot be substantiated or proved. . . . The assertion of the Austrian Government that from the side of the Reich an attack would be undertaken or planned I must emphatically reject. . . . The German Reich is always ready to hold out a hand for the free will of Austrian Germans. . . . After the Saar question has been settled the German Government is ready to accept not only the letter but the spirit of the Locarno pact.

March 16, 1935.—Germany announced conscription.

Berlin, May 21, 1935.—Both we National-Socialists and the Bolsheviks are convinced that there is a gulf between us which can never be bridged. . . . So far as ever this Bolshevikism draws Germany into its clutches we are the deadliest and most fanatical enemies. . . . Germany neither intends nor wishes to interfere in the internal affairs of Austria, or to annex Austria, or to conclude an Anschluss.

March 7, 1936.—Germany recaptured the Rhineland and denounced Locarno.

Berlin, March 7, 1936.—After three years I believe that I can regard the struggle for German equality as concluded. . . . I believe, moreover, that thereby the first and foremost reason for our withdrawal from European collective collaboration has ceased to exist. We have no territorial demands to make in Europe.

Nuremberg, Sept. 13, 1936.—We see in Bolshevism a bestial, mad doctrine which is a threat to us. . . . These are two worlds. In Bolshevist Russia there is devastation, grim murder and ruin. Here is laughter, happiness and beauty.

Berlin, Jan. 30, 1937.—The period of so-called surprises is now over.

Berlin, Feb. 20, 1938.—The Polish State respects the national conditions in this country, and Tansig and Germany respect Polish rights. Thus it has been possible to find the way to an understanding which, emanating from Danzig, in spite of the assertions of many mischievous makers, has succeeded in removing all friction between Germany and Poland, and made it possible to work together in true amity.

The Last Demand

March 11, 1938.—Germany invaded Austria.

Berlin, Sept. 26, 1938.—The Sudetenland is the last territorial claim which I have to make in Europe. . . . I have assured Mr. Chamberlain, and I emphasize it now, that when this problem is solved Germany has no more territorial problems in Europe. I have further assured him that at the moment when Czechoslovakia has solved its other problems—that is, when the Czechs shall have come to an understanding with their other minorities—I shall not be interested in the Czech State any more, and that, so far as I am concerned, I can guarantee it.

Berchtesgaden, Jan. 1, 1939.—In general we have but one wish—that in the coming year we may be able to make our contribution to this general pacification of the whole world.

Berlin, Jan. 30, 1939.—Only the war mongers think there will be a war.

I think there will be a long period of peace.

March 15, 1939.—Germany seized Czechoslovakia.

March 21, 1939.—Germany annexed Memel.

Berlin, April 28, 1939.—The Czech nation, with the sum total of its skill and ability, its industry, its diligence, its love of its native soil and of its own national heritage, deserves our respect. . . . That which the best and wisest Czechs have struggled for decades to attain is, as a matter of course, granted to this people in the National-Socialist German Reich—namely, the right to their own nationality and the right to foster this nationality and to revive it.

Aug. 21, 1939.—Germany signed a pact with Russia.

Sept. 1, 1939.—Germany invaded Poland.

Berlin, Sept. 1, 1939.—I will not war against women and children. I have ordered my air force to restrict itself to attacks on military objectives.

The bombing of Polish open towns began on the first day of the war.

Sept. 3, 1939.—The Athens was sunk.

Shopping is Difficult

Permit Is Required For Purchase Of Clothing In Germany

If you were in Germany-at-war and wanted to buy a pair of socks, don't think you could simply enter a men's furnishing store and buy socks at a price and color suited to your needs.

If you, milady, felt you needed an extra pair of "undies," don't think the saleslady at a dry goods store would serve you without further ado. In either case you would be asked, "Where is your 'bezughehn'?" It has become a magic word.

It is a certificate entitling the holder to buy a stated article and sometimes it is hard to persuade a hard-bolted official that one needs new socks or underwear.

All over the country and in every city at numerous places, there are "war economy offices." If the officials can be persuaded of the absolute need of the article in question, he will issue a "bezughehn" or authority to buy, which is taken up by the shopkeeper where the purchase is made.

So long as a man can call two pairs of socks his own, he must do some talk explaining before he is given permission to purchase still another pair.

Owners of restaurants are also frequent visitors to the local or district war economy office. They must be able to demonstrate that, despite unusual care, the wear and tear of their serviettes and table cloths has been such that replacement is essential for keeping up the good name of the establishment.

Hospitals are in a preferred class. The authorities realize that in wartime it is more essential than ever that utmost cleanliness prevail. Hence hospitals find no difficulty in obtaining "bezughehn" for all the textiles of various kinds they may need.

Will Stay in London

Princess Louise Is Alone In House With Old Servants

Alone in her 98-roomed home in Kensington Palace sits Princess Louise, Duchess of Argyll, eldest living child of Queen Victoria. Although she is now in her 92nd year, she has decided that she will not leave London even if bombs rain on the city.

The Princess remains alone with her old servants, waited only by a few of her closest friends.

Her household is administered with the utmost simplicity; many of the rooms have been closed and draped in dust sheets for economy.

Around her are the pictures she has painted, the sculptures she has modelled, the furniture which Queen Victoria chose for her nearly fifty years ago.

There is no array of sandbags and no gunnery paper on the windows at Kensington Palace. Dark blue blinds used during the last war have been put up for the blackout.

The "shelter" is a long underground tunnel near the kitchens.

The Princess insists on one air-raid precaution—as soon as a warning is given a member of her household goes out into the road which runs by the Princess' front door and turns off the Palace gas supply.

Secret Treaties

Britain Will Not Enter Into Any Treaty Of This Nature

Britain will enter no secret treaties which might jeopardize the chances of a harmonious peace when the war is over, Richard Butler, under-secretary for foreign affairs, indicated in the House of Commons.

Commander Oliver Lockport Lampson, independent, asked whether the government would refrain from entangling secret treaties such as those which prevented "fairer understanding after the last war."

Mr. Butler replied: "It is not the intention of His Majesty's government to take any step which in their opinion would prevent the attainment of a satisfactory settlement on the conclusion of hostilities."

Italy entered the first Great War on the side of the Allies in 1915 after the secret treaty of London which promised her a share of any colonial possessions taken from the enemy. Alleged failure to carry out this treaty has been the basis of Fascist agitation for colonial concessions from France.

More Bibles Sold

Podigreed Horses And Dogs Sent To Americas From Europe

Refugees from the war, podigreed horses and dogs valued by European shippers at more than $1,000,000, are finding a haven in North America. Transportation officials at New York said all records for such incoming cargoes have been broken since the war started. Horse and dog lovers have been shipping them to this continent to save the animals from destruction or the breeds from deterioration.

DUTCH BORDER SHOOTING AFFRAY CAUSES CONCERN

Amsterdam.—A mysterious shooting incident on the Netherlands-German frontier at Venlo in which two persons may have been killed and several abducted into Germany was reported as the Netherlands began precautionary flooding of her vital "water line" defences.

One report of the clash was that two persons were killed. Another authorized version said only one person was injured. Both versions agreed several persons had been spirited across the border into Germany.

The incident heightened nervousness prevailing in this country and neighboring Belgium as a result of rumors of intensified German military activity on the Western Front. Belgian mobilization was raised to 600,000.

The Netherlands government cancelled all military leaves and recalled all men at present on furlough. The government met in an emergency session.

The government, which met under presidency of Premier Jan de Geer, adopted new measures to guard the country against any sudden coup.

The government press service issued the following statement in connection with the military leaves:

"The government deems it inadvisable at the present time to allow men too much the defence forces. As a result periodic leaves cannot be granted for some time. Those who have gone on furlough, including those who departed just recently, will have to report at their own homes for business purposes will be maintained."

A wide area was flooded through Utrecht provinces and another reaching eastward between the Meuse and the Waal rivers, the Netherlands' first line of defence.

Authorized persons said only that "several persons" were involved in the border incident and that "it appears one was hurt and others taken over the German frontier."

They acknowledged that versions differed so widely "it is impossible to say at this moment what really happened."

They said an inquiry is being made. The government instructed the Dutch newspaper not to publish details of the border shooting.

The action was considered an added indication of the potential seriousness of the affair.

Witnesses to the clash at the Venlo customs port, on the Netherlands southeastern frontier, said the shooting occurred on Netherlands soil after occupation by a German automobile, allegedly crossed the frontier on foot and engaged occupants of a Netherlands machine near the customs barrier.

One of those said to have been killed was believed to be an occupant of the Netherlands car. The victims and several survivors from this vehicle were reported taken into Germany a few minutes after the shooting.

An attempt also was made to push the Netherlands automobile across the frontier but the barrier blocked its passage.

Venlo is opposite the German munitions centre of Essen, near the top of the Maasrict "peninsula," a neck of Netherlands territory which juts between Germany and Belgium.

The process of flooding sections of the Netherlands water defence line will require considerable time.

Official explanation of the extraordinary measures by the Netherlands and Belgium were lacking, but informed sources stressed the two countries believed their neutrality would be respected despite the reported German activities.

Britain Receives Russian Timber

London.—Minister of Supply Edward Bagnall, announced that the cargoes of Russian timber already have arrived in England under the Anglo-Soviet barter agreement. Britain will send the Soviets rubber and tin in return. He said Britain has chartered 20 ships to transport timber from Russia.

Navy And Air Force Pay

Ottawa.—Revision of the schedule of pay and allowances for the navy and the air force is still under consideration. The pay schedules are being adjusted to conform to the recent upward revision of the pay and allowances for the military forces.

Military Hospital

Work Started On Canada's Hospital Being Built In England

Toronto.—Work has been started at Taplow, Buckinghamshire, on Canada's first military hospital in England. It was announced by the Canadian Red Cross which is financing its construction and equipment. It will be known as "No. 1 Base Hospital."

Under a British committee of the Canadian Red Cross headed by Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett and Sir Edward Peacock, Canadian-born British banker, plans were approved two weeks ago for the temporary building which will provide a 300-bed hospital, operating rooms and other facilities.

Cost of the fully-equipped structure will be about $250,000, about one-fifth the estimated cost of a permanent hospital of the same capacity. It will be built on the Cliveden estate of Lord Astor at Taplow, where the Canadian Red Cross built a military hospital during the Great War. Taplow is about 30 miles west from the centre of London.

Construction of the base hospital is not related to the work made by the Massey Foundation, through Hon. Vincent Massey, Canadian high commissioner in London, of a convalescent hospital-home to cost approximately $1,000,000. This offer is still under consideration by the Dominion government.

As soon as the hospital is completed it will be turned over to the Canadian army medical corps which will operate it.

Fight In Clouds

German Bomber Crashes From A Height Of 30,000 Feet

London.—The Royal Air Force claimed their second victim in France, once again a German Dornier reconnaissance bomber, after a fierce engagement behind the Maginot line. The bomber crashed in the centre of a village and all three of the crew were killed.

The successful British pilot was the first from a dominion to bring down a German plane in France. Ag 21, he came from New Zealand. His victim made a game fight of it. After the fighter, climbing underneath the tail of the German plane, had let loose its first burst of machine-gun fire, it had to drop when the enemy replied.

Changing tactics the young New Zealander got above the bomber and let him have the balance in his fire. The bomber went down in a slow spiral from a height of 30,000 feet. It buried its nose in the village green to a depth of 10 feet and parts of bodies and wreckage were strewn over an area of 100 square yards.

A barn was set alight when the plane caught fire and two women were injured.

Want British Seamen

U.S. Lines Would Man Vessels With Old Country Sailors

London.—The United States Lines advertised for British seamen and officers to serve on vessels sailing between the United States, France and Great Britain.

"Vacancies exist for deck officers, engineers, electricians, machinists and chief stewards," the advertisement said.

The United States Lines' London office said that new American seamen law might cause a temporary dislocation of service, but that it expected to be able to announce shortly a schedule of freight sailings and to make an announcement concerning passenger services now cancelled.

Empire Training Scheme

Western Airports Best For Flying Says Mayor Of Prince Albert

Winnipeg.—Western airports would be more advantageous for the empire air training scheme than eastern airports because they have clearer flying weather, Mayor George Brook of Prince Albert, Sask., said in Winnipeg, when he passed through over Canadian National lines returning after requesting the Dominion government to establish an airport under the scheme at Prince Albert.

Since the organizers of the scheme were working against time, they should consider air bases where the maximum number of flying hours could be obtained, he added.

German Ship Seized By Finns

Helsinki.—Finnish authorities detained a German steamer in what was reported to be a reprisal for the capture of the Finnish steamer Otava by a German armed vessel off the coast of the Baltic. The seizure of the Otava in the Gulf of Bothnia aroused strong resentment.

ADOLF HITLER ESCAPES DEATH IN MUNICH HALL

Berlin.—Adolf Hitler escaped death or possible injury by minutes in an explosion which wrecked the Burgerbrau hall—Munich's famous Nazi shrine—and in which authorities professed to see the hand of "foreign agents."

"Clues indicate that the plot originated abroad," said a semi-official statement. The clues were not disclosed. Casualties were listed as six dead and more than 60 injured.

The Berlin newspaper Zwoelf Uhr Blatt, the first paper to publish the news, opened its edition with the headline: "There is no doubt that the English secret service has a hand in the affair," it declared, predicting the matter would be clarified "with German thoroughness" and enemies of the state destroyed.

The propaganda ministry insisted that so far as was known no distinguished Nazis were among the dead.

The terrific blast brought down the ceiling of the spacious room, killing seven and injuring more than 60 among the old Nazi leaders who had come together to celebrate the famous Putsch in 1923 that failed.

Hitler himself, the cheers of his trusted comrades still ringing in his ears, was safe on an armored train speeding toward Berlin.

The men killed were veterans of Hitler's party who now are the aristocracy of the Nazi movement. Authorities stated none of the distinguished leaders of Nazism was among the dead or injured.

Propaganda Minister Rudolf Hess, Deputy Party Leader Rudolf Hess, Interior Minister Wilhelm Frick, Julius Streicher, Robert Ley and Sister Pia—the only woman who was among Hitler's old battles—had attended the party's anniversary celebration.

But as far as could be learned several hours afterwards, all either had left with Hitler or departed shortly after he had stepped into his car at the conclusion of his address.

After the confusion subsided authorities said there were clues that the blast had been arranged by "foreign agents."

Great excitement was said to exist in Munich, and extraordinary security measures were ordered throughout the Reich.

No reason for the possibility that foreign agents were responsible was given, but the government at once offered a 500,000-mark, about $200,000, reward for the persons responsible—one of the largest rewards in European history.

The explosion apparently came from above the hall in which Hitler and other old guard Nazis planned the 1923 "beer cellar" putsch.

The Associated Press reached one of the hall administrators by telephone and was told a "terrific charge" of some explosive had been set off either in an upper room or under the floor of the upper room.

Hitler had been out of the room for some minutes, but old followers had lingered to discuss enthusiastically his address in which he had defied Great Britain and boasted that the German people was united as never before.

"Without any preliminary sound or other warning," the beer hall proprietor said, "there came a tremendous explosion which caused the ceiling to fall and crash with a terrific roar."

There were screams and the air was filled with dust and an acrid smell. Bodies lay under the debris and there was a great struggle as the injured tried to struggle free and the uninjured tried to find a way out.

A great force of police immediately closed in and the region was blocked to traffic.

For several hours Munich was shut off from telephone communication with the rest of the country. Only when the situation was fairly well in hand were communications restored.

Will Be No Competition

Britain And France To Co-ordinate War Purchases In U.S.

Washington.—Great Britain and France will co-ordinate their war purchases in United States, eliminating competition between them, the British embassy announced.

It is estimated unofficially the Allies are ready to place $1,000,000,000 in war orders here in the near future.

The embassy said with regard to co-ordination with France: "A later announcement will be made regarding the necessary arrangements to secure close co-ordination of British and French purchases in the United States."

The embassy thus disclosed a policy in direct contrast with the course followed by the two Allies at the beginning of the first Great War. At that time they bid against each other for U.S. war supplies and raw materials and consequently ran up prices.

The British found that, at times, they were even competing with the dominions for U.S. supplies.

Appointment of Arthur B. Purvis, prominent Montreal industrialist, as director-general of British war purchases in United States was announced at Ottawa by the British purchasing mission which has been in Ottawa since early September.

A lifeboat rescued 14 men from the steamer Carmarthen Coast, which was sunk in the North Sea. Two members of the crew are missing and five of those rescued were injured.

The French freighter San Jose apparently has escaped a pursuing submarine at a position southeast of Bermuda. Relayed radio advices said that the submarine had "disappeared" after the chase, and it was assumed that the freighter was proceeding unharmed.

Fishermen returning to the port of Korsor, Denmark, in Zealand said they saw the German liner New York steamer "lost" by three torpedo boats and a warplane steaming south through the great belt into the Arctic, apparently returning to Germany from Murmansk, Russia. The 22,337-ton Hamburg-American liner sailed hurriedly from New York Aug. 29.

On Oct. 3, a sailor who had been a member of the crew of the Bremen, said at Oslo that he saw the New York at Murmansk, Soviet Russia's Arctic port, when the Bremen docked there.

It is not anticipated that there will be any volume production of aircraft engines in Canada, but the fuselages will be constructed here in large numbers. Motors will be imported either from the United States or England.

Experts here explained all planes built for shipment to Britain will have to be tested here before leaving. Engines can be installed for testing and removed after the tests have been completed and the fuselages shipped overseas to be equipped with engines produced there. Accordingly, while hundreds of planes will doubtless be tested here, engines can be used for the purpose over and over again.

Indications are barrels for anti-aircraft guns will constitute a big order and Canadian firms are in a position to start this production soon. Barrels on these guns have to be changed so often and their life is so short, orders will be heavy should the air activities reach major proportions.

South Africa Offers Thousand Head Of Sheep To United Kingdom

London.—The ministry of information announced 1,000 head of sheep had been offered as a war gift to the United Kingdom by the residents of the Johannesburg district in Cape Province, South Africa. The food ministry has accepted the gift.

The war office, through the Dominions office, has expressed appreciation for 1,000,000 cigarettes and other gifts which are among the first fruits of the £1,000,000 fund being raised by the mayor of Johannesburg to supply comforts for troops.

Capture German Vessel

British Warships Seize Freight On West Coast Of Africa

London.—Another German vessel has been captured by British warships. It was learned in London that the 7,000-ton German steamer Uthmaniyah was seized and taken to Freetown, on the west coast of Africa.

The ministry of economic warfare announced 39 American ships have been detained by the British continental control organization thus far. Of this number, the announcement said, 32 have been released and seven are still undergoing investigation.

Voluntary Enlistments

London.—When the time comes to fight, ordinarily peace-loving Britishers are quick to rally. War Minister Leslie Hore-Belisha informed the House of Commons that between 70,000 and 80,000 men have enlisted voluntarily in the British army since the war began.

BRITISH CONVOY SYSTEM PROVING VERY EFFECTIVE

London.—Nearly 2,500 Allied merchant vessels are voyaging under protection of the British convoy system, according to information from the dominions office. Only eight ships in convoy have been destroyed by enemy action, the office said, pointing to this fact and the reduction of merchant ship losses since the first week of the war as evidence of the system's efficiency.

The best method of protecting maritime trade remains the destruction of attacking enemy forces, the dominions office informant said, remarking that efficiency of the British anti-submarine forces is proven not only by heavy German submarine losses but also by the fact that the German submarines have been forced to cruise increasingly far away from the focal area of trade. The number of submarines inflicting serious damage has thus been greatly reduced.

Fishermen returning to the port of Korsor, Denmark, in Zealand said they saw the German liner New York steamer "lost" by three torpedo boats and a warplane steaming south through the great belt into the Arctic, apparently returning to Germany from Murmansk, Russia. The 22,337-ton Hamburg-American liner sailed hurriedly from New York Aug. 29.

On Oct. 3, a sailor who had been a member of the crew of the Bremen, said at Oslo that he saw the New York at Murmansk, Soviet Russia's Arctic port, when the Bremen docked there.

It is not anticipated that there will be any volume production of aircraft engines in Canada, but the fuselages will be constructed here in large numbers. Motors will be imported either from the United States or England.

Experts here explained all planes built for shipment to Britain will have to be tested here before leaving. Engines can be installed for testing and removed after the tests have been completed and the fuselages shipped overseas to be equipped with engines produced there. Accordingly, while hundreds of planes will doubtless be tested here, engines can be used for the purpose over and over again.

Indications are barrels for anti-aircraft guns will constitute a big order and Canadian firms are in a position to start this production soon. Barrels on these guns have to be changed so often and their life is so short, orders will be heavy should the air activities reach major proportions.

Considerable disapproval has been voiced against the provincial government's undertaking to exact a special license fee for the shooting of pheasants. The introduction of these birds into Alberta cost the government not one cent, but was undertaken by private parties, who for years have cared for their propagation and spread. Consequently, even with a license, one had to seek permission of the real owners of the birds to shoot them. Of course, sufficient revenue may have been realized from the scheme to finance the band of special wardens necessary to eye infractions of the new addition to the game act.
